To: William B. Cridlin, Jr., Esquire Date: May 25, 1971
From: J. S. Osmalov
Subject: Outside Idea #285-R - F. Vega

The subject idea relating to a hollow core cigaret is very similar to other designs already in the patent literature. Manufacture of such a cigaret would be extremely difficult, and the inventor does not describe any useful techniques for doing so. I do not feel that this idea has any advantage over the prior art and recommend that it be rejected.
